

Better Left Unsaid

Writers: JT Hall, Jeff Teague, & Bill Douglas

Wouldn't you know I'd finally fall
For a woman who's been broken in two
She doesn't know she's not alone
'Cause I know what she's goin' through
The pain that lingers in her hart
Will take time to forget
So for now the words "I love you" are better left unsaid

Chorus:

I've been holdin' back back when I should be holdin' you
Waitin' for a sign that tells me you want me too
So until you get him out of your head
The words "I love you" are better left unsaid

We've become friends and the time that we spend
Is everything a romance should be
And day after day the words you say
Keep sending the right signals to me
But here in the night by the full moonlight
I see you're not ready yet
So for now the words "I love you"
Are better left unsaid

Repeat Chorus